DETAILED ACTION

1. Claims 1-15 are pending.

Specification

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on line 10, "Fig. 2" is typed without any context. It is believed that this is mistakenly included on the page. Appropriate correction is required.
3. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: on page 2, line 5, Applicant states "...accessible in de vicinity..." It is believed Applicant meant to write "...accessible in the vicinity..." Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

5. Claims 2, 3, and 4 recite the limitation "the respective information." There is insufficient antecedent basis for this limitation in the claim. It is believed that Applicant meant to write "the respective information unit."

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

7. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by King et al. (U.S. 6,169,498).
8. As to claim 1, King discloses a system for storing and accessing information units the system comprising at least one storage device for storing respective ones of the information units (King, Fig. 3; col. 5, lines 23-25), at least one presentation device for presenting the information units (King, Fig. 1; col. 4, lines 16-37) and a network connecting the storage device and the presentation device (King, col. 5, lines 23-29), wherein a respective information unit can be assigned to a physical location (King, col. 4, lines 30-32), the system further comprising positioning means for determining the physical location of the presentation device, and presentation control means for controlling the presentation of a respective information unit in dependence on the physical location of the presentation device and on the location to which the respective information unit is assigned (King, col. 5, lines 26-31).
9. As to claim 2, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system as claimed, the presentation control means being arranged to permit a full presentation of an information unit if the location of the presentation device and the location to which the respective information is assigned are substantially equal (King, col. 4, lines 41-48).

10. As to claim 3, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system, the presentation control means being arranged to permit a limited presentation of an information unit if there is a relatively small distance between the location of the presentation device and the location to which the respective information is assigned (King, col. 5, lines 53-64).

11. As to claim 4, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system, the presentation control means being arranged to prohibit presentation of an information unit if there is a relatively large distance between the location of the presentation device and the location to which the respective information is assigned (King, col. 6, lines 21-28).

12. As to claim 5, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system, the presentation device being a portable device (King, col. 4, lines 24-26).

13. As to claim 6, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system, the presentation device being capable of creating and/or modifying an information unit which is assigned to the current physical location of the presentation device (King, col. 6, lines 50-53). The Authoritative Dictionary of IEEE Standards Terms states that RAM is “a type of temporary data storage (memory) that can be read and changed while the computer is in use.” This speaks to the ability to modify the message.

14. As to claim 7, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a system, the network being at least partly a wireless network (King, col. 4, lines 24-26).

15. As to claim 8, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 1, including a presentation device for use in a system (King, Fig. 1; col. 4, lines 16-37).

16. As to claim 9, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 8, including a presentation device, comprising positioning means for determining the physical location of the presentation device (King, col. 7, lines 50-58).

17. As to claim 10, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 8, including a presentation device, the positioning means comprising a Global Positioning System unit (King, col. 7, lines 50-60).

18. As to claim 11, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 8, including a presentation device, comprising presentation control means for controlling the presentation of a respective information unit in dependence on the physical location of the presentation device and on the location to which the respective information unit is assigned (King, col. 5, lines 53-64).

Art Unit: 2155

19. As to claim 12, claim 5 is a system performing the same functions as claim 12. Therefore, paragraph 12 of this Office Action discloses all of the limitations of claim 12.

20. As to claim 13, claim 6 is a system performing the same functions as claim 13. Therefore, paragraph 13 of this Office Action discloses all of the limitations of claim 13.

21. As to claim 14, King discloses a method of storing and accessing information units, comprising the steps of storing respective ones of the information units by means of at least one storage device (King, Fig. 3; col. 5, lines 23-25), presenting respective ones of the information units by means of at least one presentation device (King, Fig. 1; col. 4, lines 16-37), and connecting the storage device and the presentation device by means of a network (King, col. 5, lines 23-29), wherein the method further comprises the steps of assigning an information unit to a physical location (King, col. 4, lines 30-32), determining the physical location of the presentation device, and controlling the presentation of a respective information unit in dependence on the physical location of the presentation device and on the location to which the respective information unit is assigned (King, col. 5, lines 26-31).

22. As to claim 15, King discloses the invention substantially as described in claim 8, including a computer program product enabling a computer, when executing said computer program product, to function as a presentation device (King, col. 4, lines 16-40).
